

A weekly publication for Gallaudet staff and faculty

March 5, 1984 Vol. 14 No. 20

Eli Savanick, director of the International Center on Deafness, and Lou Brown, assistant director of the International Center, address participants of the Spanish Speaking Seminar at a banquet at 'Ole Jim' Feb. 16.

Curriculum development seminar held

Gallaudet hosted 15 persons attending the Spanish Speaking Seminar on Curriculum Development at the College Jan. 30-Feb. 17. The seminar participants—coming from Mexico, Costa Rica, Colombia, Panama, Uruguay, Brazil and Peru—stayed at the Kendall apartments during their three-week visit.

Co-sponsored by the International Center on Deafness and Pre-College Programs, the seminar was the first Spanish Speaking Seminar on curriculum offered at Gallaudet since the seminars were first offered five years ago. Past seminars have focused on topics such as total communication and parent-professional relationships.

Participants in this year's seminar included teachers, school directors, administrators, and curriculum specialists working in schools for the deaf. During the seminar, they were presented with information concerning theory and practice in curriculum development.

During the first week of the seminar, Paul Adams of the Instructional Development and Evaluation Center, gave presentations on needs assessment while curriculum development and implementation were discussed the second week by Phil Saif, director of Curriculum and Program Evaluation, and David Martin, a professor in the Education Department.

Curriculum evaluation and adaptation was the topic of discussion during the final week of the seminar, with presentations that week given by Nancy Fones, assistant principal at MSSD. She was assisted by Julia Stovall, a planning specialist with Outreach.

A reception marked the beginning of the seminar Jan. 30 and a banquet Feb. 16 marked its close.

The International Center is now readying for two upcoming seminars in April. During the first, a group of 11 professionals in the field of deafness from Paris, France, will examine methodologies for teaching mathematics. That seminar will last one week and will be followed by a three-week seminar during which time a group of 11 persons from England will come to campus for individual practica on a wide variety of topics.

A new look planned for 'Ole Jim'

In an effort to make 'Ole Jim' more inviting, the Alumni House will be getting a new look this month. Photographs, plants and class banners in the dining room will hopefully make it more appealing to faculty, staff and alumni, according to Mary Ann Pugin, coordinator of Alumni Programs.

"We want to make the upstairs more inviting. The plants will give it a warmer look and the pictures and banners will tell the story of 'Ole Jim' and Gallaudet. It will emphasize that this is the Alumni House—that it's here for faculty, staff and alumni to enjoy," Pugin said.

Thirteen pictures will be hung in the dining area, pictures that date back to the 1800s and show 'Ole Jim' and College students over the years. Twelve of the photographs will be grouped along the east wall while one 40 by 60 inch print of a group of men sitting on the front steps of 'Ole Jim' in the 1880s will hang at the head of the stairs.

Pugin hopes to have the pictures in place early this month and plans later to have track lights installed to call attention to the photos.

She also hopes to have plants throughout the dining area some time this month.

She is now also attempting to collect class banners to scatter throughout 'Ole Jim.' She has contacted the Student Body Government about getting banners and will contact alumni should it become necessary to do so. She said she would like to have the banners, dating from the 1940s, in place by this summer.

Also at this time, Pugin is working to resume Happy Hour at 'Ole Jim.' Happy Hour has been discontinued since the semester break in December. There are plans now in the works, Pugin noted, to operate Happy Hour differently.

Archives receives $72,000 for survey

The Gallaudet College Archives has received a $72,000 grant to conduct a two-year project to survey and inventory historical materials at schools for the deaf in the United States. The grant is from the National Historical Publications and Records Commission, an agency under the National Archives and Record Service.

Sixty residential schools across the 48 continental states will be surveyed. Of those 60 schools, 25 will be visited and the remainder surveyed by questionnaire.

The survey will have two components: to publish a guide for researchers upon completion of the records survey and to ensure that the records are preserved.

David DeLorenzo, archivist and special collections librarian at Gallaudet, will serve as project director. A full-time survey archivist who will make on-site visits will be hired before the survey begins July 1.

DeLorenzo said he submitted the grant proposal to the National Historical Publications and Records Commission in September because such a survey had never been done. "We don't know what materials are out there. What we find will not only teach us about the schools but the deaf community since the schools are the focus, a major cog in the machinery of the deaf community," he said.

Inactive files—administrative and business records, student files, photographs and correspondence—will be examined for the survey. An inventory list of those materials will be placed in a single data base at the Gallaudet Archives and the guide produced from that data.

The guide, DeLorenzo explained, will allow researchers to "locate historically important but currently inaccessible materials at the various schools across the country." DeLorenzo hopes

Community Relations Council awards program March 17

The Gallaudet Community Relations Council will hold its fifth annual awards and recognition program March 17 at the MSSD auditorium. The program, which will begin at 7:30 p.m., will honor individuals and organizations which have made contributions to the residents of the neighboring Northeast community as well as to those who have helped strengthen the relationship between Gallaudet and the Northeast community.

The theme of this year's program is "Working Together, Growing Together and Loving It." Paul Berry of Channel

7 News "Seven on Your Side" will serve as the master of ceremonies.

During the program, the Community Relations Council, composed of 18 representatives from the College and various community organizations, will present plaques of appreciation to persons in four categories: community outreach, outreach ministry, individual achievements and special awards.

In addition, community organizations will recognize persons in their respective organizations or communities.

Two check presentations will also be made during the program, one to the Sasha Bruce House and the other to the Linwood D. Smith Scholarship Fund. The money donated to those organizations was generated at the Fourth Annual Benefit Basketball Game played Feb. 25 between Gallaudet staff, faculty and students and Washington, D.C. police officers stationed at the fourth and fifth district headquarters. The police department's team, which won by a score of 96-79, will be presented a trophy during the awards program.

Open house held at Audiology Clinic

The Audiology Clinic at the Northwest campus was the site of an open house Feb. 21. Pamela Qualls, speechlanguage pathologist, Lisa Canner, audiologist, and Tammy Wise, secretary, hosted the open house in the clinic at Memorial Hall for visitors from the Kendall Green campus and faculty, staff and students from the Northwest campus.

Guests toured the new facility and learned about the comprehensive audiologic assessment and habilitation services offered to preparatory Qualls, a graduate of the University of Georgia, joined the staff of Gallaudet College in January to establish speech and auditory habilitation services in the Audiology Clinic. A variety of speech, language and auditory habilitation therapies are being provided at this time.

Persons not able to visit the Audiology Clinic during the open house are welcome to drop by to see the facility. For information, call 722-5860 (voice and TDD).

Handicapped research

Applications are being invited for fellowships in Handicapped Research by the National Institute of Handicapped Research (NIHR). Fellowship applications must be mailed or handdelivered by April 16, 1984.

NIHR plans to award up to 10 fellowships: five distinguished fellowships with stipends of $30,000 and five merit fellowships of $25,000 each. All fellows will receive, in addition, a flat rate allowance of $1,500 for expenses in connection with the fellowship.

Awards will be made to highly qualified individuals whose training and experience indicate a potential for engaging in scientific research related to the solution of rehabilitation problems of handicapped persons.

Individuals with seven or more years of experience may apply for distinguished fellowships. Highly qualified individuals with less exqualified individuals with less experience are eligible for merit fellowships. Fellows may conduct research in any areas included in Section 204 of Title II of the Rehabilitation Act of 1973 as amended.

Individuals applying for research fellowships will be evaluated on the basis of quality and level of formal basis of quality and level of formal education, work experience, recommendations of former or present supervisors or colleagues and a research proposal submitted to NIHR.

For further information, please contact the Office of Sponsored Research or Rheable Edwards, the National Institute of Handicapped Research, U.S. Department of Education, Mary E. Switzer Building, Room 3511, 330 C Street, SW, Washington, DC 20202 (Attention: Fellowship Unit), 245-3186.

Advocacy Notes

Briefly noted

by Merv Garretson

• The Alliance for Engineering in Medicine and Biology will hold its 37th annual conference in Los Angeles Sept. 17-19, 1984. Among topics to be presented will be rehabilitation engineering and devices to help the disabled live independently. Those wishing to present papers should submit them for review by April 15. Write ACEMB, 4405 East-West Highway, Suite 402, Bethesda, MD 20814.

• ATBCB items-David W. Myers, a Gallaudet alumnus and director of Louisiana's services for the deaf, has completed his three-year term on the Architectural and Transportation Barriers Compliance Board. He chaired the communications and attitudinal barriers committee. His replacement has not yet been announced. The Board will soon publish in the "Federal Register" an invitation to comment on the development of advisory standards for telecommunication devices for the deaf (TDDs) in transportation facilities. These include airports, bus terminals, railroad stations and subway and commuter rail systems.

 Montana state law gives top preference in hiring to veterans and the handicapped in filling local and government jobs. The new "limited preference" law requires employers to hire handicapped persons or veterans if they are as qualified as other applicants for the job.

 Massachusetts has a new state law increasing the rights of deaf persons in that state. Chapter 585 of the Acts and Resolves of 1983 prohibits discrimination against deaf people in housing with or without hearing guide dogs; establishes regulations for the training and use of hearing guide dogs; provides for interpreters in legal and government proceedings and provides for distribution of TDDs at a discounted rate through the Massachusetts Office of Deafness.

• Duty-free materials—The U.S. Treasury Department recently issued rules exempting from duty books, documents and other materials imported for the education of handicapped persons. The new ruling is expected to promote a freer exchange of ideas and cultural materials among the 90 countries participating in this 1983 agreement. Before this, only articles for the blind could be imported duty-free.

'Godspell' to be performed at MSSD

"Godspell" will play on the MSSD stage this spring, the school's performing arts department has announced. The 1971 musical, based on the Gospel according to Matthew, was selected after much consideration for its lively, inventive script.

The energetic show, which celebrates the life of Christ through dance and song, is expected to draw a large audience from the Gallaudet campus and beyond.

Revenues from the spring play traditionally have supported the remainder of the performing arts program and this year the department hopes to raise $10,000. That level could ensure funding for a "Godspell" traveling company, the fall Theatre Showcase, dance and music concerts and performances and workshops by visiting artists, according to Tim McCarty, drama instructor

Thus, the performing arts department is offering patronships at various levels of tax deductible donations and is selling advertising space in the "Godspell" program. Sponsorships are available at the friend ($5 to $9), contributor ($10 to $24), sponsor ($25 to $49), angel ($100 to $499) or producer ($1,000 or

April 10 workshop offered on campus

Experiential Programs Off Campus (EPOC) and the National Center on Employment of the Deaf will cosponsor "Strategies: Supervising Your Hearing Impaired Student" Tuesday, April 10 from 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. in the red and yellow rooms of the Student Cafeteria.

Participants must register by April 6. Contact the EPOC office at x5548 (voice and TDD) for more information.

additional money will be awarded to the College so that the materials could be put on microfilm, thereby affording researchers a central location to examine the materials.

DeLorenzo would also like to arrange with each state archives for the transfer of materials to adequately equipped repositories which could care for the materials. "Preservation is a very important issue to us, we want to ensure the preservation of these irreplaceable materials," he said.

The records are not private, DeLorenzo noted, saying that schools which are not private institutions and which are supported by state funds are bound by law to transfer their records to their state archives.

He said he hopes the $72,000 is an initial grant. "It's like we're hitting the tip of the iceberg. Nobody has touched this area before and we don't know what's out there," he stated.

Sorority activity set

Country Roads, a bi-annual event sponsored by Delta Epsilon Sorority, will be held March 31 from 7 p.m. to 2 a.m. in the multipurpose room of the Ely Center. Students, faculty and staff members are invited to attend. Dancing, a buffet and skits will be featured. Sorority members will announce the group's new officers at midnight. Cost of the event will be announced at a later date and posters around campus will give further details.

Health education workshop to be held June 24-27

The National Academy will sponsor a special workshop focusing on ways health education programs and materials can be made accessible to deaf children and adults. The workshop, "Strategies in Health Education for Deaf Consumers," will be held June 24-27 at Gallaudet.

The workshop marks the first time Gallaudet will bring together health education professionals who will provide information on deafness and present sessions that show how to teach deaf consumers subjects such as cardiopulmonary resuscitation, wellness and drug abuse.

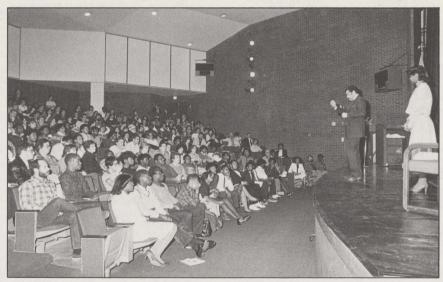

Participants in the workshop will have the opportunity to learn how to develop or adapt materials and programs for deaf consumers.

The workshop will also highlight model programs already in existence in the area of health education for deaf people.

Also working with the National Academy in planning the program are: Judy Coryell, Regina Cassidy, Jan Kemper and Brenda Thaxton.

Application has been submitted to the District of Columbia Nurses Association for continuing education credit.

The tuition fee is $75. Room, board and recreation fee is $80. To register, contact Maureen Durkin at x5480 (voice and TDD).

Ernest Hairston, co-author of "Black and Deaf in America: Are We That Different?" addresses a group at MSSD during a Black History Program Feb. 24. The program was one of a number of activities held at both campuses during Black History Month.

'Careerathon' set for March 13 at Ely

Careerathon '84 will be held Tuesday, March 13 from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. in Ely Center. Workshops, presentations and information dissemination designed to assist students in career planning are scheduled.

The multipurpose room in the Ely Center will feature a marathon track theme traveled by students stopping at stations representing the five stages of career development: awareness, exploration, decision making, preparation and entry. Students undecided about their majors can talk to representatives from Gallaudet's various academic departments.

Students who have already selected a major and want more information about related career opportunities can attend any of five panel discussions featuring alumni and other professionals: health, social services, the arts, business and science.

Juniors and seniors anticipating the job search can participate in a 'mock interviewing' session.

The Counseling and Placement Center and the Student Union are cosponsoring Careerathon '84 with the assistance of the Peer Advisor program and the Office of Student Development. In addition, the Office of Academic Affairs and EPOC have been involved in the workshop.

Bisonettes place third in tournament

The women's basketball team concluded the season with a third place finish in the Chesapeake Tournament held at Gallaudet, Feb 24-26. Notre Dame (MD) won the tourney with Marymount placing second.

The Bisonettes lost the opening round to Marymount 49 to 44 but rebounded to defeat Goucher 77 to 16 and St. Mary's 62 to 41. On Sunday, the Bisonettes faced Notre Dame with Notre Dame winning, 67 to 49, and advancing to the championship game.

The Bisonettes, ending the season with a 19-9 overall record, had three players selected to the All Tournament Team-Felice Pyser, first team, and Jo O'Neill and Patty Underbrink, second team.

Meanwhile, the men concluded their season Feb. 20 with an 87 to 86 loss to Chesapeake College. For the season, the team had an overall record of 6-16 and a 4-11 record in NCAA Division III College games.

After losing the first four games of the season, the Bison began to jell and won four out of their next six games before the first semester ended. But in the second semester, they could only muster two victories against 10 losses. However, four of those 10 defeats were by three points or less.

Baseball season around the corner

Spring training is just around the corner for the men's varsity baseball team. New head baseball coach Robert Maxey has already called for tryouts and is putting the men through an exercise program.

Maxey, currently athletic director at Hammond High School in Columbia, MD, has over 10 years of coaching experience. This will be his first experience working with a deaf team.

Dan Hall, a 1983 graduate of Gallaudet, will be the assistant coach.

Student's accomplishments cited

Patricia Shores, a senior majoring in international studies and secondary school education, has been selected as one of the Outstanding Young Women of America for 1983. Currently president of the Student Body Government, her biographical sketch and record of accomplishment will be included in the 1983 edition of "Outstanding Young Women in America."

Selection for the award is based on outstanding personal and professional achievements.

She is a member of the Canadian and International Club, Phi Sigma Iota Honor Society and served two years ago on the Gallaudet Community Relations Council. She worked as a peer advisor in her dorm last year and completed an internship through Experiential Programs Off Campus with a Smithsonian program for gifted deaf children. In 1981, she served as a camp counselor in a field study program through EPOC.

As part of the academic requirements for her major, she participated in the fall of 1982 in a special internship in Switzerland, studying that country's education system for deaf children. She will graduate in December after completing her student teaching practicum this coming fall.

General campus announcements

- A performance entitled "Deafnasty" by Aristotle's Comedy Hour will be given Wednesday, March 14 at 7 p.m. at Elstad Auditorium. The show is sponsored by the Student Body Government and produced by Visucom, Inc. Admission is $3 and the doors will open at 6:30 p.m. Tickets are on sale at the Student Union office at the Ely Center from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Proceeds will be used to help pay expenses for Miss Deaf District of Columbia to compete in the Miss Deaf America pageant.
- · Voice auditions for MSSD's spring production of "Godspell" will be held Tuesday and Wednesday, March 6 and 7, from 4 to 5:30 p.m. and from 6:30 to 7:30 p.m. in the MSSD auditorium. Persons auditioning must bring music to sing and something from which to read.
- · Boyce Williams, recipient of the Powrie Vaux Doctor Chair of Deaf Studies, will speak at the Graduate School Colloquium Thursday, March 15 at 4 p.m. at the Ely Center. Williams' presentation is entitled aired during "Good Morning America" from 7 to 9 p.m. weekdays.

The Foundation for Science and the Handicapped, Inc. (FSH) will award several $1,000 science grants to student applicants who have some physical disability and who have been accepted by or are now attending college, graduate school or other professional school and who are majoring in an area of science, mathematics, medicine or engineering.

Applications must be submitted by March 15 to Donald Ballantyne, chairman of the Science Student Grant Committee.

For more information, contact Ballantyne at 59 Dalebrook Road, Bloomfield, NJ 07003.

The exhibit, "Art Therapy—Then and Now" opened Feb. 23 at the Ely Center. The exhibit, which features a section of art work by patients in the Mental Health Program for the Deaf at Saint Elizabeth's Hospital, will be displayed through March 8.

Lecture series begins on March 26

The Social Work Program of the Department of Sociology and Social Work will sponsor a lecture series beginning this semester, with the first lecture scheduled for March 26. The goal of the series is to bring experienced professionals from a variety of fields (such as health care, mental health, addictions and social service) to share their knowledge and expertise in areas of interest and concern to human service professionals. Lecture topics will include addictions, medical crisis counseling, clinical approaches to depression and death and dying.

The lectures will be open to the entire campus and should be of special interest to faculty and students in social work, psychology, counseling, home economics and related fields.

Irene Pollin, a social worker in private practice in Bethesda, MD, will give the first lecture March 26 at 7:30 p.m. in the Elv Center auditorium. Pollin will speak on a topic of medical crisis counseling and the need for counseling patients with chronic or terminal illness and their families.

More information about forthcoming lectures will be published in On the
